

Center for Career and Workforce Development

Wallace State Community College's Center for Career and Workforce Development offers a variety of ways that community, including business and industry participants, can achieve new skills and quickly build knowledge to enter a new career opportunity. Program concentrations of the Center for Career and Workforce Development include Community Education (CommEd), Continuing Education (CE), Corporate Training (CT), and Training for Business and Industry (TBI). This department works to provide essential skills training, job preparedness activities, short-term training, and customized job training for the community and industry clients.

Director: Jamie Blackmon

Phone: 256.352.8461

Web: <https://www.wallacestate.edu/careerdevelopment>